What is The Identity Ecosystem?

The new Identity Ecosystem is a sustainable system where any of the data collecting Government agencies or licensed private agencies can enroll Citizens and legal residents and send to the NIMC backend. With the new ecosystem, NIMC plans to capture additional 50 million records this year."

The likely effects of the ecosystem approach are;

- There will be deduplication of resources and energies which come at extreme high costs, over 13 federal agencies and about three state agencies offer identification services in Nigeria.
- The approach adopted will set a time frame of 3-5 years for achieving the NIMS goals.
- Digital technologies, specifically biometrics will be used to link efforts already made to harmonize digitized civic registration.

The Ecosystem will be solely funded by the World Bank, European Union (EU) and Agence Française de Développement (AFD), a French developmental agency.
