"Through this process, government will gather population records that capture the data of all residents in Kaduna State and use this data to plan properly for the provision of schools, hospitals, roads and other critical infrastructure.

"The Residency Card will also serve as an all-in-one multi-purpose card for identification, a debit card for financial transactions, a platform for receiving salaries and other means of social service delivery for financial inclusion," he said.

He also appealed to traditional rulers, religious and community leaders to help sensitize citizens, to ensure that all residents in respective communities get registered. He promised to recognize the first and one millionth registrants, in order to encourage residents to turn out for registration.
